"Battle Ready"

Newcomer's Chapel equipped and armed with love.

In Love:

- It was a blessing but also difficult to say goodbye to another one of our dear Saints, Don Satterfield. I had the honor of going up just days before he met Jesus, sat by his bed and read scriptures, anointed, and prayed with him.
- I am filled with gratitude for all the countless hours that my church family gave to make Christmas Eve service so special for many.
- At a time when Satan is working overtime to distract us with anxiety and fear I am encouraging my Newcomer's Chapel to keep their focus on loving God and loving others.
- I am so excited to be working with one of our resident cub scouts Owen as I help him earn his Duty to God in action badge.
- I have all my required DCOM paperwork in and now await my February 13th meeting.
- I am busy putting together our first Love, Learn, Lead gathering on January 26th, an opportunity to learn (When Hurting Helps) and lead (plan upcoming learning gatherings for our church and community).
- I am also busy planning the Women's Retreat on February 7-9, A Beautiful Life...reclaiming the beautiful life God intended.
- A huge thank you to Aaron and our youth for an outstanding job on youth Sunday!
- I am also very excited at the opportunity to share my heart for young girls during the lock-in. Michelle and I are planning a special lesson and activity.

Concerns: Let us find peace in knowing that if we dedicate ourselves to discerning God's will for Newcomer's Chapel we will continue to be fruitful.
